Every Step

Every step I've taken
Since the world's been turning
Has brought me one step closer to the truth
Every step I've taken
On this long long journey
Has brought me to this moment
Right here with you

There were moments of laughter
And moments of pain
There were times when I barely remembered my name
But through it all there was something missing
Deep inside I always knew

Every step I've taken
Since the world's been turning
Has brought me one step closer to the truth
Every step I've taken
On this long long journey
Has brought me to this moment
Right here with you

I was looking for answers
And trying to be strong
Thought I was happy till you came along but now
You look at me and my heart breaks open
When your love comes shining through

Every step I've taken
Since the world's been turning
Has brought me one step closer to the truth
Every step I've taken
On this long long journey
Has brought me to this moment
Right here with you

Somehow I knew that the worst of times
Would one day turn out right
For every second of darkness
There's an hour of light

Every step I've taken
Since the world's been turning
Has brought me one step closer to the truth
Every step I've taken
On this long long journey
Has brought me to this moment
Right here with you

©2004 Todd Herzog (VoxArt Music, ASCAP)